NBC5 News Presents 2019: The Year in Review

They were among the most talked about stories of 2019 and include the suspicious death of Phoenix resident and former Mouseketeer Dennis Day, serious safety issues and outrageous maintenance costs of the Bear Creek Greenway and the most viewed story from NBC5 News, the mystery “thing” that tumbled out of a Medford woman’s faucet.

On Christmas night at 7pm, NBC5 News will broadcast the most memorable stories and exclusive investigations that affected change in the communities of Southern Oregon and Northern California.

“The details revealed in our investigations are astounding,” said KOB-TV/NBC5-KOTI-TV/NBC2 Vice President and General Manager Bob Wise. “I’m very proud of our journalists and their ability to dig for the truth.”

NBC5 News Director Craig Smullin offered credit to the program’s producer, NBC5 News at 6 co-anchor and Executive Producer Kristin Hosfelt. “Out of thousands of stories we aired this year, Kristin found some of the most compelling investigations and life-changing moments we covered in 2019.”

NBC5 News Presents 2019: The Year in Review will air Christmas night at 7pm. An encore presentation will be broadcast Sunday, December 29th following Sunday Night Football and NBC5 News.

NBC5 News Presents 2019: The Year in Review is sponsored by Sherm’s Food Stores, Cow Creek Umpqua Tribe, Lippert’s Carpet One and Medford Mattress.
